Oceans Of Ocean

Some courses feature a signature hole that plays against the ocean; others boast a stretch of holes along the shore. But no course in the Western Hemisphere can top what you'll find at the Dominican Republic's Playa Grande

Golf & Ocean Club on the country's north coast. Overlooking Playa Grande Beach, one of the most beautiful stretches of sand in the Caribbean, Playa Grande features 10 holes directly on the ocean, the most of any golf course in North or South America. As part of a multimillion-dollar investment by Discovery Land Company, the property unveiled an extensive Rees Jones renovation of the course originally designed by his father, Robert Trent Jones. And if you love the views, there are equally enticing residential offerings at Playa Grande, including the one-of-a-kind Amanera Promontory, a three-acre premier homesite sitting on a bluff overlooking the beach: It's on the market at $35 million.
